What Does Working With Dr Patricia Murugami Look Like?

The Change Has Been Gradual, And The Growth Continues To Be Transformational.

I am now able to take a deliberate, calculated and progressive introspection at myself, in order to unpack issues/challenges hindering my growth and in the same calculated way, determine what step by step solutions I can take. I am no longer bound by my shadows and fears, I am able to work through these, and use them as stepping stones.

I am slowly discovering a deep love for me, and with that love, the strongest potential. Living life is a joy, because there is always tomorrow, in which I strive towards.

The journey towards becoming my next best self, has enabled me to be more conscious of my impact on the teams around me, and I now constantly and consciously strive to inspire and motivate others towards a similar path, so that we are all working together to create meaningful change to the environment around us.

In the words of Alice Walker, from the book THE TEMPLE OF MY FAMILIAR,

“Keep in mind always the present you are constructing, it should be the future you want.

These are the words I carried with me as I joined the Breakthrough Leadership Transformation training program. I was seeking growth and change for myself. In my own selfish way to grow ME. To grow ME into what exactly; you would ask . . . Good question.

Need I prepare you that once you join the class all selfish agendas are left outside the door. Yes you will grow you, but wholesomely and embrace an aspect of togetherness and community input in your growth journey.

BLT training and application of the lessons learnt brings with it vulnerability, re-assessment of one's life goals and purpose. Vulnerability is a good phase to go through because with Dr. Patricia's Murugami's guidance, this is where you then start to experience change and transformation.

I have emerged from our Circle a better leader, a better student, mentor and friend. The relationships I now hold are purposeful as I maintain a deliberate circle of Leadership Accountability. Out put in my line of duty has also greatly benefited from this training and would encourage lady leaders in whatever walk and stage of one's career to pursue this course.

Am I then constructing the future I want after the course? absolutely! I greatly thank Dr. Patricia and the team at BLT, for teaching me a different approach to life whilst accepting and thriving in the stage of life and career one is in, as you blossom for the next.

And please as you GROW and RISE, don't ever forget to LIFT OTHERS!
